

OVERVIEW

The Ocean Health Index establishes reference points for achieving widely accepted socio-ecological goals and scores for 220 countries & territories, Antarctica and 15 High Seas regions on how successfully they are achieved.

Evaluated globally and by country, these goals represent the wide range of benefits that a healthy ocean can provide; each country's overall score is the average of its respective goal scores. Select a goal below.

